Classroom Acoustics

Good classroom acoustics make a big difference. When noise bounces around a room, it can make it hard for students to hear, focus, and learn. That's why adding acoustic panels to walls and ceilings helps create calmer, clearer learning environments. Whether it's reading out loud or group work, reducing background noise supports better communication and concentration for everyone in the classroom. Plus, with fun colours and pinnable surfaces, they're as practical as they are creative.

Self-adhesive and easy to install—no tools or trades needed. Wall panels, pinnable and Velcro-friendly surfaces, and desk screens all designed for quick classroom transormations.

Easy Stick Acoustic Wall Panels

2800 x 1200 x 12mm

- Cover a large area instantly - floor to ceiling solution
- Solid colour requires no edging or capping for a perfect finish
- Easy install, just peel and stick to most surfaces*
- Cut to size or around fittings easily with a utility knife
- Manufactured from 60% minimum recycled fibre content
- Acoustic comfort for where we live, work, and learn
- Acoustic Rating NRC 0.45 (noise reduction coefficient)
- Permanent adhesive backing
- Choose from Select colours (lead times may apply)

Supporting Sensory Needs in the Classroom

Classrooms can be busy, bright, and sometimes overwhelming — especially for students with autism, ADHD, or sensory processing differences. That's why more Australian educators are turning to tools like sensory tents to support student wellbeing.

A sensory tent offers a quiet, light-controlled space where students can step away, reset, and regulate their emotions. It's a simple yet powerful addition to any learning environment, helping reduce anxiety and improve focus once students return to class.

By providing these kinds of sensory supports, schools can create more inclusive classrooms that recognise and respond to the diverse needs of their students. As awareness grows around sensory-friendly practices, the sensory tent is becoming an important resource for teachers across all year levels.
